

The Mid-Atlantic Permanente Research Institute (MAPRI) is looking for volunteers to join the Community Advisory Board.

Applicants are accepted on a rolling basis.

MAPRI is the health research division of Kaiser Permanente Mid-Atlantic States. The Community Advisory Board (CAB) is a group of individuals who act as a voice for the diverse communities that Kaiser Permanente serves. CAB members give community perspective on clinical research.

Becoming a Community Advisor may be a good fit if you:

- Currently live in the District of Columbia, Maryland, or Northern Virginia
- Are interested in using your personal health experiences, knowledge, and expertise to improve clinical research and health care delivery
- Are willing to learn about and consult on various research topics and projects
- Are comfortable with group discussion and decision making
- Able to attend 4-6 virtual meetings per year (compensation provided)
